

SEDA's PG Cert in Higher Education Programme
Leaders' and Tutors' Network

Refreshing PG Certificates in Learning and Teaching in Higher Education: a pre-conference event

Date: Wednesday 6th May 2009

Venue: University of Sussex, Brighton

Time: Midday until 5.00pm (lunch provided)

An event for staff involved in designing postgraduate certificates in teaching and learning (academic practice/higher education).

This follows the pattern of other pre-conference workshops at previous SEDA conferences. Participants at past events supported the idea of continuing with similar sessions.

This event will include opportunities for discussion and the sharing of good practice. It will be introduced by Liz Shrives, SEDA Co-chair, who will share her experiences of working with the Higher Education Academy Accreditation Team and in particular consider the challenges and benefits of the new approach to accreditation and its impact on PG Certs. She will also update on the collaborative developments between SEDA and the Higher Education Academy.

The introduction will be followed by three case study presentations

- 1 Working with professional bodies: mapping the PG Cert.
Pam Parker, City University, based on her experience of mapping the PG Cert to NMC standards
- 2 Growing the numbers: encouraging more staff to take up the PG Cert.
Stephanie Aiken, Kingston University
- 3 School of Education or central EDU? Tensions and possibilities. Liz Shrives, Higher Education Consultant

By setting up this event, SEDA hopes to strengthen the already-existing networks of coordinators and tutors, with a combination of formal and informal opportunities for sharing experience.

If you will be attending the SEDA Spring Teaching, Learning and Assessment Conference 2009 at the Thistle Hotel in Brighton, then you can book overnight accommodation for the night of Wednesday 6th May via the conference registration form available at www.seda.ac.uk.
